

Outstanding in their field

A cyclist watches as the first group of student volunteers from Gorsebrook Junior High, some wearing discarded plastic bags, begin to create what was to be called an Ocean Gyre, near Citadel Hill on Friday. The gyre, a performance art piece by artist, Helen Verbanz, was held to bring attention to World Oceans Day and to bring attention to the effects humankind has on the marine environment. (TIM KROCHACK / Staff)